The Discipline of Delight

About a year ago, I had the privilege of meeting the New York Times bestselling author, Shauna Niequist. She was a retreat leader at a conference I attended, and she spoke to us about the "discipline of delight."

Chasing delight is an important spiritual practice, she taught us, because it helps us to keep in mind that the harsh realities in life are not the only realities in life. That while life may be brutal, which it inevitably is, it can also, simultaneously, be beautiful.

Ever since then, I've worked to be intentional about finding delight. If not daily, at least weekly. When I was in New York last month, we had an evening free to spend as we wished, and I chose to "chase delight." I had dinner with my good friend Jonathan Merritt at a fabulous restaurant in Manhattan called Ci Siamo. I ate the best onion torte accompanied by the best glass of wine, and we split to-die-for pasta and a dessert that cannot even be described. After, we saw "& Juliet" on Broadway which included music from my childhood, songs of which I still know every word.

I could not take the smile off my face the entire evening. It was pure delight, and it returned me to myself and to God. Chasing delight is not a form of escapism, it's actually a practice in reality. I was reminded how wonderful things can be, and I was returned to my senses in the most beautiful of ways.

I don't know how often you practice the discipline of delight, but I encourage you to take some time to do so soon. Remind yourself that the hard realities of life aren't the only ones, and return yourself to life's beauty, so you can remember when the going gets tough, what's brutal is not all there is.

Grace and peace,

Pastor Victoria

The members and friends of

Royal Lane Baptist Church

extend our best wishes and hearty congratulations to our Graduates & Scholarship Recipients.

May God bless you richly.

Carson Gill

Carson Gill is a senior at Plano Senior High School. She has been involved in choir most of her life, sang with the Children's Chorus of Greater Dallas for several seasons, and is enjoying her A Capella group at school. She has been accepted to and will attend Texas Tech in the fall. She will be majoring in Psychology and plans a career in Pediatric Psychology.

James Robinson

James Robinson has attended Royal Lane since he was a young boy. He has been a part of the children and youth groups. He is graduating from Woodrow Wilson High School at the end of this month where he played one year of football, played first base and clean-up better and lead the team in RBI's, and was also a member of the Robotics club. He completed his years of scouting and recently became an Eagle Scout. He did his Eagle Scout project at Royal Lane. He plans to pursue a career in welding. James enjoys the outside and loves trucks and motorcycles.

Jordan Stubblefield

Jordan Stubblefield, daughter of Jane Stubblefield, graduated from the University of South Carolina on May 6th with her master's degree in viola performance with an emphasis on community engagement. While in South Carolina, Jordan played in many professional orchestras such as Aiken Symphony, Aiken Civic Orchestra, Rock Hill Symphony Orchestra, and Augusta Symphony. This summer you will find Jordan in the pit orchestra of Opera in the Ozarks in Eureka Springs, Arkansas. Jordan aspires to play in various opera orchestras and to teach thriving students in her private studio. To prepare for auditions, Jordan will be pursuing an orchestral studies diploma at Roosevelt University in Chicago in the fall of 2023. In her spare time, Jordan enjoys taking care of her two hermit crabs, Lola and Ernie, and watching various Asian dramas.

Adam Visconti

Adam Visconti first came to Royal Lane in the summer of 2010 to intern with Harry Wooten as part of the requirements to earn his Bachelor of Music in Church Music and Instrumental Music from Baylor University. Continuing at Baylor, he then earned his Master of Science in Higher Education and Student Affairs in 2013. Most recently, Adam graduated from Vanderbilt University with his Doctor of Education in Leadership and Learning in Organizations as he walked across the stage last Friday, May 12, 2023. You can find Adam in the choir loft, and he is most grateful for the support of his family, friends, and Royal Lane community.
