Week of Compassion

Dear Church Family,

I invite everyone to join me for a Lenten recital on Sunday, March 26 at 2pm. I'll share some traditional organ and piano pieces on Lenten themes, improvisations, and some organ music that I've found through my dissertation research that has not been performed for over 400 years. My research focuses on the music that 16th century German organists created and used for their jobs as church musicians. Many of these pieces have sat untouched because most organists today can't read the notation, called "organ tablature." I'm excited to share a selection of them during this season of Lent.

An Opportunity to Help

At Speedway High School, we have several immigrant students who have superior grades and a burning desire to change their economic status through higher education. Unfortunately, most of these same students have low family incomes, the inability to take out student loans, and are unable to receive federal or state funding. These students rely solely on two economic sources for college: their own personal income as a working teenager and the scholarship(s) they are awarded. Several of these soon to be 2023 graduates will not be able to determine whether they are college bound until a mere week before college courses start . . . which is when they are fully informed of all scholarships they will be awarded and they can count how much money they have accrued with their summer employment.

Here is an introductory paragraph of an essay one of Speedway High School students wrote for her 12th grade English class:

I am a refugee. It is who I am, and I will forever identify with all refugees, as we have a story to tell. Even though I did not understand the plan as an 11 year-old from Eritrea, I knew our destination was to meet my dad, who left us eight years prior "to go to work". As we left in the safety of the darkness in middle of the night, deep down I knew there were three possible outcomes: first, we could be captured by the police and sent to a prison for escapers; second, we could die in our country's forest if our smugglers chose to rob and kill us; or third, we could make it to our destination safely. I had to reconcile all possible end results. The journey was several years in length, and we kept track of where we were by the small villages we found on our way through Sudan and Ethiopia. Meanwhile, we literally survived on our drink powder we added to water for energy as we walked. My immediate family made it ... but many others did not. And this fact especially hurts when I lay awake at night, thinking of the ones that should still be here with me today.

We are raising money to provide scholarships to international Speedway High School students. The application process is simple: the student will write a short essay on the hardship (s)he has endured to get to the United States and how (s)he has overcome obstacles. Every student who applies will receive a portion of the donated funds. Last year Speedway Christian Church awarded six students with a $500 scholarship. It was truly one of the greatest moments of my life to honor those six students with our scholarships.

Lose, Love, Live; a Lenten Conversation

Lent is a time period that begins with Ash Wednesday and concludes with Maundy Thursday. Typically, this time in the liturgical seasons of the church is a time of introspection, prayer and fasting. We are invited to take our faith seriously and work on things that we know we can be better at. Often this is a time when folks give something up. For example, if you have a deep love for chocolate, over the next forty days, you would abstain from consuming chocolate. Every time you experienced the craving for chocolate, instead of eating some, you would go to God in prayer.

However, Lent does not have to be only about what you give up. Another take on this practice is to take something on. Perhaps a new spiritual discipline like setting a time every day to read your bible. Or, promising yourself you will exercise more. It is in this practice that we, as the church, will try and take something else on this Lenten season.

Together, we are going to explore the topic of loss and change with the help Rev. Dr. Dan Mosely's book Live, Loss, Love; The Spiritual Gifts of Loss and Change. As your staff, we have been working with Rev. Dr. Dan for several sessions as he has helped us to learn to live again in the absence of someone or something that was significant. My prayer, is that this will be a holy conversation for you just as it has been for us. We will learn new things about ourselves and we will be encouraged to have honest moments with our own faith. Let our Lenten journey, begin.

~Shalom, Rev. Kyle

Storehouse Food Pantry

The Storehouse food pantry hit a new record Saturday, Feb. 11, serving 956 family members from 213 families.

Twenty-eight volunteers packed and repacked, giving out 3,195 cans of food, plus bread and sweets. It absolutely wiped out the shelves.

As Rich Hoerger said, "We substituted food items, for substituted food items."

Each family received two meat items. Forty-seven clients signed up for the first time.

Thanks and congratulations to the food pantry volunteers. You are a blessing to so many people! The need seems to grow and grow.
