"Sanctification: Remember Who You Are"
Romans 6: 15-20
Pastor Clay Smith

- What controls us becomes our master. What desires, fears, habits, or expectations compete with Jesus for control of your life? How do you recognize when something has begun to master you?

- Embrace your union with Christ. Paul teaches that our old self has died with Christ and that we now share in his resurrection life. Where do you struggle to believe this is true of you, particularly when facing recurring sin, failure, or shame? How might believing this truth change the way you approach those struggles?

- Pursue your union with Christ. Sanctification is not simply trying harder but continually yielding ourselves to Jesus and depending on his power. What is one area of your life where you tend to rely on your own determination rather than asking Jesus for help? What would it practically look like to yield that area to him this week?

- Remember whose you are. We belong to Jesus and are called to live out that identity. What voices or influences in your daily life most shape how you think about yourself and how you live? How could remembering that you belong to Christ change the way you respond to those influences?
