February 2026 Faces on the way to the Cross

Dear Friend,

It was the summer of 1985. I was at a music and drama band's retreat in the picturesque hills of Ooty, South India. It was there that I first heard words I have not forgotten since. On a crisp mid-morning, I heard these words from an audio cassette player. The British singer Cliff Richard sang:

"Every face tells a story,
it never tells a lie."

Holy Week is filled with unforgettable faces—worshippers, skeptics, betrayers, leaders, disciples, and sinners. Each person Jesus encountered reveals something about the human heart... and something about the heart of God.

This series invites you to walk with Jesus through His final week and see yourself in these stories. Some characters warn us. Some inspire us. Some comfort us. All point us to the cross.

May the stories around the cross stir something holy within you. May grace meet you where you are and may hope rise where you least expect it. May the Savior who walked toward Calvary walk beside you now and always.

On the journey with you,

Arun Andrews

My parents, Alex and Rita, are very grateful for all the emails and Facebook greetings you have sent them. They asked me to convey their gratitude. Thank you also for letting them know how much you appreciate having us at Trinity. That means a lot. Arun

PRAYER FOCUS FOR FEBRUARY: LOVE IN FAMILIES

Creative Prompt: When you notice a heart—on a mug, a greeting card, or even a child's drawing—pause and pray for families to be strengthened with patience, kindness, and understanding. Let these everyday symbols inspire prayers for deeper love, reconciliation, and joy in every household.

RESTORATION WORK IN THE SANCTUARY

Our Trustees and the rest of our Leadership Team have taken a series of steps regarding restoration work in the sanctuary. While we cannot afford to take on other recommended jobs at this moment, we are addressing the most urgent one.

The surface of the wall behind the curtain in the altar area needs restoration. The work is scheduled to begin on January 26, 2026, and should take two weeks to complete. On Sunday, February 1, 2026, and Sunday, February 8, 2026, we will gather for our 9:15 AM traditional service in the Fellowship Hall. The service will include traditional music, with the choir participating. We will have our coffee fellowship as usual in the Fellowship Hall at 10:30 AM, followed by Revive worship at 11:00 AM. Should you have any questions or concerns, please feel free to speak with our trustees: Scott Sundy (Chair), John Mickle, Russ Marburger, Mike DiMatteo, and Brian Weller. You may also speak with Beth Sider (Chair, Worship Committee), Ken Gable (Chair, Leadership Team), or Pastor Arun. We apologize for any inconvenience and appreciate your support and cooperation. We are especially grateful to Russ Marburger, who will help Trinity oversee this project.

CEILING/FLOOR by Jamie Bream, Contemporary Worship Leader

Now faith is confidence in what we hope for and assurance about what we do not see.

Hebrews 11:1

One of the best (and I use that term loosely) aspects of using the free version of Spotify is the element of randomness; you never know what song will play next. While the songs generally remain within the same genre, Spotify seemingly disregards your specific preferences, instead playing what it determines you need to hear. This often allows me to discover tracks that are just as well-written and produced as mainstream radio hits, but are not necessarily featured on mainstream stations. Recently, I came across a song titled "Ceiling/Floor", which contains the following lyrics in its bridge:

Lord we believe You want to release more Let the ceiling of our faith become the floor

What do those two lines mean to you? For me, these lines mean that we should continually try to go beyond the limits of what we believe. Instead of seeing our strongest beliefs as the final ceiling, we should use them as a starting point to keep growing. It's about having the courage to trust in the things we cannot yet prove or see, and using that trust as a foundation to build upon. One of my goals for 2026 is to pray more consistently, and I believe this will be the start of transforming my current belief ceiling into my new belief floor. Even without seeing proof, I have confidence my faith will deepen its roots and expand its ceiling, as long as my hope aligns with God's will.

Ultimately, embracing this perspective allows us to step into the assurance found in Hebrews 11:1, building a life not bound by the limits of our current sight, but secure in the limitless potential of God's will. By continually seeking to turn our ceilings into floors, we ensure that our faith remains a dynamic, ever-expanding journey rooted in confident hope and trust.

ASH WEDNESDAY

Ash Wednesday begins the Lenten season. The Ash Wednesday service, will be held on February 18th at 7:00 PM in the sanctuary. (This will follow the period we need to worship in the Fellowship Hall due to the sanctuary ceiling and wall restoration.) At the Ash Wednesday service, the ministers will offer the imposition of ashes and the Chancel Choir, led by Andrew Meade, will lead in worship.

THANK YOU, DIANNE SCHOFIELD.

For many years, Dianne coordinated the individual Christmas Eve candles at Trinity, making our Silent Night singing with candles special for everyone. She prepared and stored the candles each year and managed all the details even when we used battery-operated ones. After Christmas 2025, Dianne has requested to step down from this role. Thank you, Dianne, for your faithful service. We are grateful to Jeff and Charlotte Wagoner for taking on this responsibility going forward.

NOTES FROM THE ORGAN BENCH

by Andrew Meade, Director of Traditional Music

Wow, it seems like Christmas just ended, but suddenly we are racing toward Ash Wednesday, Lent, and beyond that, the glory of Easter! People approach the Lenten season in various ways. Some really appreciate the atmosphere of reflection, repentance, and self-denial, while others find it all too dull and depressing and can't wait for the "happy stuff" to return at Easter. No matter where you find yourself on that spectrum, I encourage you to use this Lenten season to explore the opposite perspective and consider why some folks think differently about Lent than you do.

If you are a person who really focuses on the Lenten disciplines, please remember that you can fast, reflect, and repent while still radiating the joy of Christ to those around you. In many traditions, Sundays are not considered a part of Lent but are "little Easters" which allow us to temporarily step out of the Lenten season and look ahead to the celebration of Easter. It's okay to be happy during Lent! On the other hand, if you usually find yourself dreading Lent, I challenge you to consider the value of slowing down, giving something up, and finding areas of repentance in your life. However, Lent is not just about giving things up. It is also an opportunity to add to your spiritual life with more prayer, more scripture, and more acts of service. There are always special worship opportunities here at Trinity during this season - Ash Wednesday, Maundy Thursday, Good Friday - and I encourage you to attend these as a way to experience Lent more deeply. As a musician, I so appreciate the wealth of beautiful and profound music written specifically for these occasions, and I invite you to make these services a priority in your Lenten Journey this year!

As always, we welcome new participants of all ages in Trinity's music program. If you play an instrument or enjoy singing, please reach out to me at any time. Singers are warmly invited to join the chancel choir on a temporary basis during the run-up to Easter. We will also be continuing our monthly orchestra program, so if you play an instrument and haven't spoken to me, please do! In addition, I would like to gauge interest in reviving the "Sing and Celebrate" choir - perhaps as a weekday offering. If you were a part of that group in the past and would be interested in bringing it back, please reach out to the church office or directly to me.

SMALL GROUP LENTEN SERIES: UPDATE FROM BISHOP PAULINE

As you are aware, we previously announced that our Small Group Lenten Series would follow Max Lucado's "Lessons from John." However, our Small Group Lenten Series will now feature Pastor Arun's "Faces On the Way to the Cross: Insights for Living."

Inspired during his recent trip to India, Pastor Arun created a workbook that offers notes about each character, space for sermon ideas, and pages for personal reflection. In addition, discussion notes will be available for our use in the Lenten series of home and small group gatherings. For those who might miss worshipping with us or being online, we will have a video resource available. Every Monday, a video of the week's sermon will be posted on Trinity's YouTube and Facebook pages for individuals or groups to watch as needed.

We hope this series blesses you deeply. Please bring your workbooks to church each Sunday to take notes. If you attend online or are not a regular at Trinity, you can request a copy; they are available for anyone joining our small groups. Small group leaders, feel free to reach out to me with any questions. May the Lord bless you, even as you pursue Him through your study of His Word in the fellowship of fellow-believers.

Register now by using the sign-up sheet across the mailboxes, calling us at 717-774-7146 or by sending an e-mail to office@trinityonbridge.com

MEMORIES AND A PRAYER

by Nihal Andrews

Growing up, my father's trips away always carried mixed emotions. My father traveled about 150 days a year as a itinerant preacher between the years 2007 and 2014. I missed his presence deeply, yet I waited with quiet excitement, knowing his return would bring something special. I would stand by the door, watching for the glow of headlights as his taxi turned onto our street from the airport.

Even though we didn't have much, my father always made sure my mother, sister, and I felt remembered. He maximized every gift—not in cost, but in care. To a child, that kind of love made waiting worthwhile.

Recently, my father traveled again to visit his parents. When he returned, he brought chocolates, and my grandfather had sent me a watch with him. That moment stirred memories of childhood waiting and gently drew my heart toward a deeper reflection.

It made me ask myself: Do I wait on God in the same way?

As children, waiting comes naturally when love and expectation are present. But as adults, we often rush past stillness. What if we approached our time with God—our devotions, our prayers, our quiet moments—with the same anticipation I once felt waiting for my father to return?

Our Heavenly Father may not always give us immediate, tangible gifts. Instead, He offers something far greater: His presence, His guidance, and answers that arrive in His perfect timing. Waiting on Him is not passive—it is an act of trust.

Prayer:

Lord, give me a heart that longs for You. Teach me to wait with patience, expectation, and childlike faith. Help me to desire time with You more than the answers I seek. Amen.

“I waited patiently for the LORD; He inclined to me and heard my cry.” Psalm 40:1
