YOUR Questions GOD'S Answers

My dear Friend,

A few years ago, I was walking down some steps at the Westshore Pinnacle Hospital in Mechanicsburg. I was heading from the parking lot to the reception area to visit a church member who was admitted in the hospital. As I approached the final steps, I heard my phone ring and did not resist the temptation to pick the call. That was a big mistake! Before I knew it, I heard what seemed like the cracking of a twisted ankle. I had missed three steps and had landed on it. For a moment, I thought I had broken something inside!

It was God's mercy to me that I healed well after that experience and did not need any special treatment. Nevertheless, that incident reminds me of two scriptures. Galatians 5:25 says, "Since we live by the Spirit, let us keep in step with the Spirit". In Hebrews 12:1-2, we are called to run the race marked out for us with perseverance. In that scripture, we are reminded to set aside everything that hinders us, and to keep our eyes on Jesus, the author and perfecter of our faith. Amidst all the pressures of life, have you been distracted and missed a few steps, maybe more, even at the risk of breaking your spiritual ankles? I can tell you that I am as prone to faltering as you are. In a recent time of worship and quiet with the Lord, I came upon this scripture: They will receive blessing from the Lord, and vindication from God, the Savior. Such is the generation of those who seek Him. Psalm 24: 5-6.

My time of reflection led me to write a prayer. I hope it speaks to your heart even as it translates mine: Lord, I am part of a culture that seeks its own face. A selfie and selfish generation. Help me as I navigate ways with road signs that spell "self-glory", "self-obsession", "self-praise", and "self-righteousness". Lord, please forgive me and save me from myself. Help me to seek your face - really seek YOU with all my heart.

May the evidence of that seeking be witnessed in the blessings you send - countless and priceless. Help me to never hoard my blessings but to share them unreservedly - so that this generation will be inspired to seek your face. Thank you for so great a calling and so rich a blessing. All the glory belongs to YOU alone. In Jesus' name, Amen.

In his book "Replenish", pastor and author Lance Witt, who had served on the team of Saddleback Church (along with Pastor Rick Warren) as an executive and preaching pastor, writes a chapter about the problem of "approval addiction" among leaders. In the course of the chapter, he mentions about a reporter interviewing a woman from the Boston Philharmonic Orchestra. "How does it feel to get a standing ovation from the crowd at the end of your performance and then wake up in the morning to a negative review in the newspaper?" She said overtime she has learned not to pay attention to the applause of the crowd or the disapproval of the critics. She was only after the approval of her conductor. After all, he was the only person who really knew how she was supposed to perform. <sup>1</sup>

Lord, let me fail except when I perform for YOU alone. Amen.

Arun

BYOB - BRING YOUR OWN BIBLE

My dear friend in Jesus,

I know that you love the Lord and His Word. It shows in the way you make worshiping at Trinity your weekly priority. It shows even more in who you are and how you serve Christ and His kingdom. As your pastor, I am truly grateful for your devotion and firmly believe that the Lord honors those who honor Him.

I am writing this note with a desire that I have held dearly in my heart over 35 years of pastoral ministry. May I encourage you to bring your own Bible to church? I believe that this practice can create a better connection between your time with the Word at church and your time with the Word at home. Mark your Bible, add side notes, underline, highlight and get deeper!

From time-to-time, I am planning to introduce a pledge to the Bible in our worship services. What a special gift it will be to raise our Bibles and speak words of gratitude and commitment to God's Word. Someone said, "Carry the Bible when you are young, it will carry you when you are old". Millions in time can testify to that truth. I personally have a desire to be remembered in God's heart, not so much as a preacher of the Bible, but as a faithful, life-long student of His Word. What a gift we have in this Holy book from God's own heart to ours! As Augustine of Hippo said, "The Holy scriptures are letters from home".

Thank you so much for considering my request.

Open my eyes that I may see, wonderful things in your law. Psalm 119:18

For the Word and for your blessing,

Arun

CHOIRS With Easter Sunday over, choirs will continue! There are seven weeks of Easter along with two important dates in the church year upcoming, Ascension and Pentecost. The latter, Pentecost, is celebrated on June 8th of this year. On Pentecost Sunday, we will also celebrate “Church Music Sunday.” So, there is a lot to rehearse and take part in until such time!

“Church Music Sunday” and/or the time around this celebration is typically the point at which the choir begins their well-deserved summer break. This year, however, we are going to create a singing group for the many summer Sundays! It may well be called the “Summer Choir” and be simply thought of as singing for the summer. It is intended for anyone who wishes to sing. Much less formal than ‘choir,’ there will be no robes, no processions, no weeknight rehearsals! Our weekly rehearsal will be on Sunday mornings, approximately 30 minutes before the service. Musical offerings will be easily adapted for each Sunday morning worship experience. Please consider singing!

MIDWEEK MUSIC CONCERTS Midweek Music concerts continue! This month, we’ll celebrate with spring music! Concerts are on Wednesdays at noon and last approximately 30-40 minutes. Many, many thanks to everyone who attends and watches online! From music to trivia to jokes, and even some poetry, we offer worship through music, reading Scripture, and praying. Come for all of this and come for the fun!

CONCERT SERIES The music ministry is working towards hosting the Messiah University Concert Choir. No date has been finalized yet; although, it may very well be the Fall of 2025 or Spring of 2026. Also, the Hershey Handbell Ensemble will present a concert on April 24, 2026. Many other events are taking place in the Fall of this year! Be on the lookout for more publicity. There will be so many opportunities to hear great music! Please plan to attend these very special events!

I will be accompanying, on piano, a concert outside of Trinity Church on Sunday, June 8. The concert will feature “Five Mystical Songs” by Ralph Vaughn Williams. Baritone Matthew Robinson will be singing. You may remember Matthew from Midweek Music and the Christmas Musicale. The “Five Mystical Songs” are very interesting, intriguing, and intricate for voice and piano. The program is at Good Shepherd Catholic Church, 3435 Trindle Road, Camp Hill, PA.

SCRIPTURE AND SONG Please note that the church’s website has a link titled “Scripture and Song.” The link is updated often! The selections you hear are brief, original meditations on a particular hymn and its related scripture.

LET ALL THE WORLD IN EVERY CORNER SING (UMH 93). I like this hymn because of its obvious allusion to singing. It describes a singing that is bursting at the seams with praise! The second stanza states it well, “The church with psalms must shout, no door can keep them out.” Will you join us in choirs? Do you have a special musical talent? Come, be a part of the music ministry!

HANG IN THERE! by Jamie Bream

“Let us not become weary in doing good, for at the proper time we will reap a harvest if we do not give up.” Galatians 6:9

Contrary to popular belief, pursuing music as a collegiate major can be highly challenging, requiring students to balance rigorous academic and practical demands such as rehearsals, ensemble performances, individual practice sessions, and regular coursework. Composer and conductor Eric Whitacre knows this from personal experience - it took him seven years to earn his bachelor’s degree from the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. “By the time I graduated”, he writes in the introduction to his piece Godzilla Eats Las Vegas, “I was ready to eat Las Vegas.”<sup>1</sup> 30 years later, however, Whitacre has earned a Master of Music degree from the prestigious Juilliard School in New York, has won a Grammy Award, and has conducted concerts with renowned orchestras such as the London Symphony Orchestra and the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra. He is currently also a Visiting Composer at Pembroke College, Cambridge University, and an Ambassador for the Royal College of Music in London.<sup>2</sup> All of these successes hinged on his decision to continue on his chosen path during those seven years (difficult years, undoubtedly) at UNLV. He now shares a semi-annual reminder on social media urging music students to persevere through tough times and to recall the initial passion that drew them to music before their collegiate studies began.

The above verse comes from a passage in which Paul is instructing his readers to do good to all, reminding them that they will reap the benefits of their work if they do not give up. This is contrary to our world, which often considers giving up as its first line of defense. We give up on jobs because they ask too much or because we don’t like every aspect of them. We give up on friends because they take too much time or have different views on certain topics. We give up on marriages because our partner doesn’t always see things eye-to-eye with us or things “just aren’t working out” after the first six months. And of course, we give up on God because we think He hasn’t come though for us, doesn’t care about us, or simply has forgotten about us. However, this is not what we see in Paul’s instruction to the Galatians, nor often the example we see in Scripture. Rather, we see Godly individuals pressing on to follow God’s leading in their lives, even when it is difficult, seems impossible, or simply does not make sense. Consider stories such as those of Moses, Elijah, David, and Joseph. How might these narratives have differed if these individuals had abandoned those that they were leading? What about if they had lost faith in God?

During one semester at Liberty, my choir director (who is now the Dean of the School Of Music) shared the following message with our class:

*“Do what you must to complete the task at hand.
Rest if you must - sometimes we get tired.
Slow down if you must - sometimes we start out too fast.
Pause if you must - sometimes we need a break.
Ask for help if you must - some things we cannot do on our own.
Cry if you must - sometimes we need that release to keep us refreshed.
But above all, press on - you must!”*

Persevering through difficult times is not always going to be easy - in fact, the term “persevere” suggests quite the opposite! But if God has led you into it, you can have faith that He will see you through it. Let us “run with perseverance the race marked out for us, fixing our eyes on Jesus, the pioneer and perfecter of faith. For the joy set before Him He endured the cross, scorning its shame, and sat down at the right hand of the throne of God. Consider Him who endured such opposition from sinners, so that you will not grow weary and lose heart” (Hebrews 12:1b-3).

Discern God’s leading in your life. Honor and trust God through it. And hang in there!

COMMITMENT TO SALVATION OFFER

Dear Fellow Sojourners,

In the Trinity Baptism study guide, we were challenged to look deeply into ourselves. I found it illuminating, if not revealing. I reflected on my commitment and my promise to God, sharing with you now - thoughts from the foot of the cross.

We have all been impacted by stress, illness, sorrow, grief, and sin. We know frustration, uncertainty, and fear. We share common goals and needs, not only with each other, but perhaps with all humanity. There are times that I, much like the “little flower”, struggle just to survive and grow. Trying to squeeze through the crack in the sidewalk and feel the sunshine on my petals...

Through this study, I've learned once again that life's trials may happen around us. Difficulties may find us, even when we hide or try to outrun them. We may be overwhelmed, even to the point of tears, but then, a God-Moment, and we realize it's the good things that happen “within us” that truly matter. Good things, because of the struggle.

I've become more aware of God's providence. HE fortifies us - strength, endurance, purpose, trust, gratitude, hope, and joy - Yes, I said JOY. The joy that comes with “overcoming”. Power over our doubt, anxiety, and temptation. Could all of our struggles truly be God's divine plan from the beginning?

A final thought - When I come up from the water, “baptized by water and of the Spirit” John 3:3-5. My sins washed away, even at my age, to have a “new beginning” (It's never too late to show God you love Him!). Though we may follow the difficult, challenging path - called “life”, we emerge victorious!

Hallelujah! Thanks be to God! Your Parish Nurse - Barbara Z.
(Prayers for her good recovery after God saved her through the accident.)

THANK YOU Sincerely, Franklin Graham

Dear Friends,

I am writing to thank you for the generous gift you sent to Samaritan's Purse for U.S. Disaster Relief. We are deeply grateful for your investment in what God is doing through this ministry.

We have teams and equipment deployed in Oklahoma, Missouri, Kentucky, West Virginia, California and Hawaii, helping families who have been devastated by storms and wildfires. In the aftermath of Hurricane Helene in western North Carolina and eastern Tennessee, we are continuing to help people recover and get back on their feet and have begun rebuilding houses destroyed by the storm. We have also ordered and received 57 replacement mobile homes so far, are working onsite preparations, and look forward to dedicating the first of these very soon for families in need.

As we bring relief in Jesus' name to people who are hurting, it is our prayer that many will put their faith and trust in Christ. Jesus said “I am the resurrection and the life. He who believes in Me, though he may die, he shall live” (John 11:25). May God bless you.
