

BE STILL AND KNOW

Psalm 46

When life gets hard, where do you instinctively turn for security or relief?

What areas of your life feel out of control, chaotic, or unstable right now?

Psalm 46:4 speaks of a river—what do you think this represents, and how does it contrast with the chaos described earlier in the Psalm?

How does God's character and names used in Psalm 46 give us real, practical hope today?

What would it look like for you to “Be still and know that He is God” in your current circumstances?
