

MEN'S SPRING ROAD TRIP

Antietam National Battlefield

May 11 - 14, 2026

Join us as we take a road trip to Harpers Ferry National Historical Park and Antietam National Battlefield. Harpers Ferry witnessed the first successful American railroad, John Brown's attack on slavery, and the largest surrender of Federal troops during the Civil War.

Antietam remains the bloodiest one-day battle in American military history with more than 23,000 casualties after 12 hours of savage combat on September 17, 1862. Although tactically a draw between George McClellan and Robert E. Lee, the Battle of Antietam ended the Confederate Army of Northern Virginia's first invasion into the North and led Abraham Lincoln to issue the preliminary Emancipation Proclamation.
