Embracing the Gift of Forgetting and Pressing Forward to Finish Strong!

Dr. Jacqueline Jones-Brown, Associate Minister
Brookland Baptist Church

As we enter the month of December, a season of celebration and reflection, it is important to acknowledge the diverse range of emotions that this time of year can bring. While many look forward to the joys of spending time with loved ones, others may experience fear, anxiety, and frustration due to unfulfilled goals or past disappointments. However, the wisdom shared by the apostle Paul in Philippians 3:13-14 offers a glimmer of hope for a brighter future. By forgetting the things that are behind us and pressing forward, we can embrace the true essence of the Christmas season and finish the year strong.

Embracing the Act of Forgetting:

It may seem impossible to forget the past but let us consider the act of forgetting as a deliberate process of dismissing what hinders us. This includes letting go of past mistakes, hurts, and anything else that holds us back from experiencing future success. By dismissing these hindrances, we create space for personal growth and open ourselves up to new opportunities.

Pressing Forward:

To press forward means to actively pursue a better future while leaving behind the burdens of the past. It involves laying aside every weight that slows us down, casting down negative thoughts and imaginations, and redirecting our focus towards things that bring peace and joy. Regular church attendance and immersing ourselves in the word of God help to strengthen our faith and keep us centered. Remembering God's promises, such as abundant life, daily provision, grace, and mercy, can guide us in our journey towards a more fulfilling and purposeful life.

Finishing Strong:

When we prioritize forgetting the past and pressing forward, we position ourselves to finish the year strong. By releasing the weight of our past, we can experience personal growth, find renewed joy, and allow peace to permeate our lives. Embracing this mindset empowers us to overcome obstacles, seize opportunities, and make the most of the Christmas season and the final month of the year.

Conclusion:

As we reflect on the joys and fears of the Christmas season, it is essential to remember the wisdom shared by the apostle Paul. By embracing the act of forgetting and pressing forward, we can overcome the challenges that we may have faced throughout the year and finish strong. Let us not allow past mistakes or disappointments to hinder our future success, but instead, let us focus on God's promises and the abundant life He has in store for us.

May this Christmas season be a time of renewed hope, joy, and peace as we embrace the journey ahead and press towards the mark of our high calling in Christ Jesus.
