FROM OUR DIRECTOR OF CHURCH ADMINISTRATION...

GOD SPOKE TO ME THREE TIMES LAST WEEK

CONVERSATION 1

We had service done on our gas logs several week's ago, and when the work had been completed, I casually asked the technician if it was possible to add remote controls to the gas logs. His answer of "I HAVE A UNIT IN MY TRUCK; DO YOU WANT ME TO INSTALL IT" started the process of the LORD speaking to me. The installation was complete, and he handed the instructions to me and said "YOU NEED TO READ THE BIBLE FIRST, BUT READING THESE INSTRUCTIONS WILL ALSO BE HELPFUL. NOT AS HELPFUL AS THE BIBLE, BUT HELPFUL." This introverted young man is a skilled technician working on gas logs as well as being quite skilled at beginning Gospel conversations.

GOD: Rick; he is more introverted than you are, and he is better at this than you are.

CONVERSATION 2

I was listening to the enLighten on Sirius/XM satellite radio; and the discussion was about Stuart Hamblen, the writer of the hymn "It Is No Secret What God Can Do". When they mentioned that John Wayne was part of the process, I was hooked.

Stuart Hamblen's conversion to Christianity occurred in 1949 during a Billy Graham crusade in Los Angeles. Prior to this, Hamblen was known for his hard-living lifestyle, including drinking and gambling. He invited Graham to be a guest on his radio show, which led to Hamblen attending the crusade and ultimately accepting Christ. This decision marked a turning point in his life, leading him to give up alcohol and gambling. His conversion also significantly boosted the popularity of Graham's crusades and inspired Hamblen to write the song "It Is No Secret (What God Can Do)"

Stuart Hamblen's relationship with John Wayne evolved from being drinking buddies to having a deeper, more meaningful connection after Hamblen's conversion to Christianity. Initially, Wayne noticed Hamblen's lifestyle change and questioned him about it. Hamblen's response, "It's no secret what God has done for me," inspired Wayne to suggest that it would make a good song title. This interaction led to the creation of the song "It Is No Secret (What God Can Do)," marking a significant moment in both their lives and reflecting the shift in their relationship from casual acquaintances to one involving spiritual discussions

GOD: Rick; he was much bolder than you. <https://youtu.be/8yuBzSikNug?si=Thtg6bjBvYkpoplP> (Stuart Hamblen's testimony)

CONVERSATION 3

Lerkys Quintero is the first interpreter I had on my first mission trip to Cuba, and she & I became good friends. Lerkys, is a schoolteacher and a strong and fairly new adherent to Christianity. A recent Facebook post of hers reminded me of something she did on that first trip.

The translators were paid in U.S. Dollars for a week's worth of translating, and this was the equivalent of 3 to 4 month's pay in Cuban Pesos. When Lerkys received her envelope, I watched her place the entire pay packet in the offering plate (very much like the widow in David's sermon on October 20th).

GOD: Rick; she gave a lot more than you do.
