What are the characteristics of the church and community?

Linden Linthicum is situated in a bustling area. There is an abundance of retail, homes, and churches in close proximity. The congregation values fiscal responsibility and mission outreach. This year, the church paid off its mortgage debt on the building, while continuing to support numerous local initiatives. Hospitality and valuing diversity are hallmarks of the church. All services have an ASL interpreter. The church crafted a welcome and inclusion statement that is displayed on the website and inside the church to make clear that any and all of God's children are welcome.

The church also has a fully accredited Early Learning Center on its campus. Hilltop serves children ages 3 – 5.

What is the vision for the next 3-5 years?

Linden Linthicum seeks to experience more in-person fellowship and connection among congregants, a greater connection to the local community and continued and expanded community with United Methodist and interfaith partnerships.

What are the expectations of the pastor?

A commitment to build stronger community engagement is a priority. Leadership in caring for those in the "bookends" of the life cycle - children and seniors. In addition, a strong leader with management skills (particularly personnel management).
