

KASES COLUMN

happy end of may everyone! i hope this letter is finding you well! as always im going to just give you guys an update about how life in honduras has been going! so lets hop into it!

this month wasn't too too crazy, until it was! so lets start with the beginning of the month, as always we did our normalities such as, young adult group, ladies group, and youth group. along with radical! this month in radical the values i taught about were transparency, love, and sincerity! all very good things to teach young kids! i love being able to get closer with my kids and grow in my relationship with them and of course teach them about Jesus and the bible! i ask that you guys be in prayer for me as we are about almost halfway through the school year, to have strength to keep pushing and energy to help the kids understand the importance of life values!

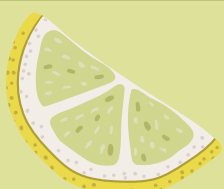

NEW AIM TEAM!

OUR CUTE WHOLE TEAM <3

HAVING THESE GIRLS HERE HAS BEEN AN ABSOLUTE BLAST! THEY ARRIVED TO CORQUIN ON MAY 17 AND SPENT ABOUT A WEEK IN CORQUIN DOING ORIENTATION, GETTING TO KNOW THE TOWN, AND GETTING TO KNOW US TOO! IF YOU GUYS REMEMBER VERY EARLY INTO MY FIELD TIME, MY TEAM AND I TRAVELED TO ANTIGUA GUATEMALA FOR LANGUAGE SCHOOL, WELL OUR NEW TEAM IS CURRENTLY DOING THE SAME. THEY JUST FINISHED THEIR FIRST WEEK OF SCHOOL AND THEY WILL STAY THERE FOR ANOTHER FIVE WEEKS. WE HAD THE OPPORTUNITY TO GO WITH THEM AND SPEND THE FIRST WEEK WITH THEM WHILE ALSO BRUSHING UP ON SPANISH. IT WAS SOOO MUCH FUN BEING ABLE TO GO BACK AND RESEE SOME OF FAVORITE THINGS. I REQUESTED TO HAVE MY SAME TEACH AS LAST TIME. HER NAME IS ANA AND SHE IS THE SWEETEST BEST TEACHER EVER! WE GIGGLE LIKE LITTLE GIRLS AND ARE ABLE TO HAVE A GREAT TIME WHILE STILL LEARNING/PRACTICING MY SPANISH.

i am so grateful for being able to go back to antigua and spend some good team time together with our new girls! along with two new aim girls we also received a summer intern from harding, her name is bella and i feel like i have instantly clicked with her! it has been so good to be able to talk with more girls and just have fun!

KASES COLUMN

okay now for just a few fun things that happened this month! ill save the best for last ;)

okay im going from the oldest to the most recent!

-the first exciting little adventure was that in santa rosa, the big town over, my whole team went to an "expo" that was being held! we woke up and headed to santa rosa and there they had people doing typical dances, food vendors, and little trinket vendors! it had the feeling of a farmers market almost! it was a lot of fun because we dont get to do stuff like that too often but it was a blast! we also got to get sushi which is ALWAYS great!

-next exciting news is that we had another baptism! one of the members of radical, kenia, her mom (gloria) has been studying the bible with my coordinator kris and gloria made the decision that she wanted to be baptized! we all got to attend and it was so awesome!

-next was on our way to antigua, we stopped and the mayan ruins in honduras! we have been before but this time around we had a tour guide so we really got to learn more, we also went down into the tunnels which is SO AWESOME!

-so much fun happened this month i just have to keep going! if you dont know antigua is a very touristy place and there is a lot to do there! in antigua specifically there are 3 volcanoes that are commonly hiked, and to have a fun little team adventure we rode on horseback up one of the volcanoes! it was my first time horseback riding and it was so fun! and the views were amazing and it was crazy to be standing ON a volcano! Gods creation is so amazing!

and now the best exciting news for last! i am not sure if i have told you guys but back in september my older brother gave me a call and told me they were pregnant! and he was born two days ago! i am the happiest and saddest aunt ever! i am so happy and excited because i have a nephew! but i am so sad because he is so cute and i just want to be there and hold him so bad! God is so good and everything went great with him and my sister in law anna!

well guys! i know that this newsletter was a little scattered and crazy but so much good stuff happened and i am just so blessed! i ask that you guys be praying for me to remain present here while so many exciting things are happening back home. as always thank you guys for everything you do. i will never be able to fully express my gratitude but i am thankful to any and everyone that has helped me with support in any way. i love you all! God is good!