

Cultivating Contentment

Join us over the coming weeks as we lean into trusting God's provision. Trusting God's provision is essential to cultivating contentment, peace, joy, and generosity.

Week 1

Read Matthew 6:25-34

Almighty God, unbind me from the chains of worry and fear. Open my hands to give and receive freely. Open my heart to trust you with all things. Open my mind to understand - fully, completely - that there is enough because you give enough. Thank you for my daily bread. When you give more than I need, help me to give it away. Where there is worry, give peace. Where there is fear, give courage. Help me, each day, to trust you with tomorrow. Amen.

Week 2

Read 1 Timothy 6:6-19

Gracious and Generous God, grant us the holy freedom of contentment. When the world tells us we need more, turn our hearts toward the abundance already surrounding us, abundance showered down on all from You. Free us from the restless pursuits of wealth, position, and possessions. Guard our hearts against clinging to self-made security. Awaken us to the eternal treasures of faith, trust, and serving others. May our gratitude become generosity, and our generosity become a witness to your abundant love. Amen.

Week 3

Read Philippians 2:1-3

Holy God, give us eyes to see people as you see them. Give us ears to listen to their stories. Give us mouths to speak words of love and grace. Give us hands to let go of indifference and hard-heartedness, so that you may fill them with kindness and action. Give us hearts to be compassionate. Gracious God, lead us from apathy to action, from discontentment to contentment. Just as mercies are new every day, renew our gratitude so that we may overflow with thanksgiving and generosity. Amen
