YOUTH DYNAMICS Adventures Idaho

GPC CORNER

For the last two weeks, men from FBC were involved in a work project with Global Partner Paul Spence (Youth Dynamics) at the YD Adventures base in Grangeville, Idaho building a large shed/garage to house vehicles and equipment used in the ministry there.

Willie Wilhelm & John Koetje were there from Oak Harbor working the first week.
Jim Eelkema, Steve Wells, Kirk Kallander, & John Biggs joined them this week to finish up the project. The GPC allocated $1,000 from Special Giving to Missions to help cover travel expenses for the 8

One of the most incredible wildlife conservation stories of our lifetime is right here in our own backyard. After being extirpated locally by commercial whaling, Humpback Whales are now making an incredible comeback in the Salish Sea and more and more humpbacks are making their way further inland, deeper into the waters of Puget Sound proper.

There are several common breeding grounds in tropical and sub-tropical waters for humpback whales. The four main regions in the North Pacific are Hawaii, Mexico, Central America and Asia. The individuals that are most commonly spotted in Puget Sound have usually migrated here from the Hawaiian breeding grounds and are generally en route to their winter feeding grounds in the Bering Sea. To understand the fallacy of secular scientists trying to ascertain the origin of these incredibly complex creatures CLICK HERE to view "A WHALE OF A STORY."
