

One-on-One Care Practice Scenarios

One-on-One Caregivers support transformation in the lives of people during difficult life transitions and circumstances by creating engaging one-on-one experiences and opportunities to build healthier relationships with God, themselves, and others.

Goals

- Focus on asking questions that lead to sharing.
- Be patient with the development of the conversation and let them set the pace.
- See if you can identify what they are feeling. Can you articulate what they are feeling back to them?
- How would you do this in a way that demonstrates empathy vs. sympathy? Match their emotion.
- Can you tie in how we approach those feelings as Christians?
- Can you identify if there are any follow-up action steps?

Avoid

- Talking more than listening
- Nonverbals that communicate a lack of care or interest
- Sharing too many personal stories or making your experiences the focus
- Trying to fix the emotion they are feeling
- Being positive, optimistic, or upbeat when it doesn't match what they are experiencing
- Using Christian clichés

Scenarios

Relationships with Spouse/Family

1. Woman, divorced, late 50s-early 60s, kids are out of the home, recent job loss, can only afford about 3 months more on her mortgage.
2. Man, 40s, his wife left him and took the kids. He's started coming to church.
3. Woman, early 40s, three kids at home. Her husband just informed her that he has been cheating on her and has asked for a divorce. He is the breadwinner.
4. Man, mid 20s. Found out that his mom was cheating on his dad. His parents informed him that they are going to get a divorce. He is currently living with them after college.
