STANDARD PROBATE AND TRUST ADMINISTRATION FEES

Because probate administration is more labor-intensive and subject to strict court rules, the costs of this court-supervised process is far greater than the private administration of a living trust after the death of the creator(s) of the trust, the fees charged are considerably higher. As administration of a living trust is effectively the same process as a probate, fees are charged based on the same statutory schedule that is used in probate but at a lower rate.

Irrevocable Living Trust Administration (without court involvement)
