

Friend Feedback Assessment Instructions

You have a rare privilege! You have been asked to be a Spiritual Partner by someone who trusts and respects you. By asking you to complete this assessment they are telling you that your opinion is important, and you have an influence on their life. Most likely you are a close friend or spouse who knows this person well and will respond prayerfully and honestly to this assessment.

Why are they taking the Spiritual Health Self-Assessment? To maintain physical health, we have routine check-ups with a medical doctor and develop healthy habits. But what about our spiritual health? The Spiritual Health Self-Assessment gives one the ability to measure their spiritual wellbeing at a particular point in time with the purpose of better understanding the state of their spiritual wellbeing and measure growth as a follower of Jesus Christ.

Your friend has already done a self-assessment of their spiritual health. But just as with our physical health, it can often be helpful to get a second opinion. That's where you come in. Your role is really quite simple and should only take a few minutes of your time . . . but it could have a life-long impact on your friend. So, here's what we are asking you to do:

Pray. Ask God to sharpen your mind and speak to your heart as you fill out the assessment.

Read each statement carefully and respond to the best of your ability. If you can't answer a particular question because you don't know the person well enough, just give them a "3" for that question. You may want to mark those questions so your friend can identify them

Return the assessment to your friend and offer to discuss any questions they might have.

Keep in mind that the Spiritual Health Self-Assessment and Spiritual Health Action Plan measure our health at a particular point in time. It is a tool that will help your friend evaluate their spiritual health and give them direction for developing a plan to grow in their faith.
